

LIBERTY WINES

Job Title: Marketing Assistant
Location: South West London
Salary: Commensurate with experience

We have an opportunity for a bright, ambitious wine lover who has excellent writing and editing skills and proven attention to detail to join our team as a Marketing Assistant. Liberty Wines is an award-winning wine importer and distributor, known for our excellent portfolio and our customer service, as well as our commitment to education and staff development.

As part of Marketing Support, the successful candidate will join the dynamic team in a multi-faceted role, providing support across departments, from the creation of wine product information and customer communications, to planning winemaker visit itineraries and the coordination of trips to wine regions. This is a great opportunity for someone looking to learn more about the world of wine, and work with some of the world's most admired wine producers.

If you're organised, self-motivated and ready to join a busy, fast-paced team, apply with a cover note and up to date CV to Marketing.Jobs@libertywines.co.uk
